

TO ATTACH RIDER TO "DRY" BILL

Effort in Congress to Provide for the Vote of Citizens.

BAILEY ON "WET" SIDE

Workmen's Compensation Law for the District Introduced by Crosser, of Ohio.

By JOSEPH P. ANNIN.

The first test of strength over the District prohibition question will come on a proposal to attach a rider to the bill in the Senate referring the matter to District citizens in the form of a referendum. The proposed rider will provide the necessary machinery for registering the will of District citizens and will fix the qualifications for voters.

While no one has prepared an amendment to that end, it is known that several Senators work along that line. Senator Hardwick, of Georgia, who comes from a local option State, strongly favors such a procedure, which involves the basic principle of the Democratic party's refusal to embrace national prohibition. There is a chance that such a rider would be adopted by the Senate provided it called for the immediate submission of the question to the people.

While the House District Committee appears to favor a referendum rider in case it is decided to report out the Sheppard bill after its passage in the Senate, it is realized that such a rider would offer small measure of protection unless it first should have passed the Senate. Otherwise, it could be knocked out in conference, throwing upon the House the necessity of voting on the straight prohibition question when the conference report was submitted. The probable conferees on the measure would be Senators John Walter Smith, Pomeroy and Dillingham and Representatives Johnson, Aiken and Cary. With that group, there always would be the probability of a four-to-two division against the referendum.

Bailey on "Wet" Side.

"Wets" and "drys" yesterday were busy planning a campaign of which the capture of the House District committee is the mission. The "wets" gained one vote from the doubtful column as published yesterday morning. Representative Warren Worth Bailey, of Pennsylvania, announced firmly that he would not consent to any measure which sought to prohibit upon the people of the District without first offering them an opportunity to express a preference. Mr. Bailey will offer the machinery if it becomes apparent that the bill is going to get out of the District committee of the House, but he indicated yesterday that, in the absence of any insistent demand from District citizens for prohibition, he was inclined to think the District did not want the measure and therefore a referendum would not be necessary to advise the committee.

A possibility that several of the bills embodying recommendations of the District Commissioners will be considered by the House District committee at its meeting Tuesday developed yesterday when the three Commissioners were closed for the better part of the day with the subcommittee of Judiciary, of which Representative Vinson is chairman.

George L. Cain, president of the National League of Government Employees, will present arguments and citations to President Wilson in favor of a Saturday half holiday for government employees the year around, after President Wilson returns from his speaking tour. Mr. Cain has the promise of an audience.

A workman's compensation law for the District, to be administered by an independent industrial commission and providing pensions for disabled workmen, has been introduced by Representative Crosser, of Ohio.

Taylor Fleet Tug Returns.

The Taylor fleet tug James O. Carter, working in the James River for six weeks, has returned to its wharf in Washington. The tug yesterday started down the Potomac with a Standard Oil tank barge. The Washington Brick and Terra Cotta Company's tug John Miller will be ready for work within a few weeks after an overhauling.

G. W. U. Fraternity Elects.

S. H. Eden has been elected president of Sigma Nu Fraternity at George Washington University. Other officers elected are: Vice president, S. T. Leonard; secretary and treasurer, M. S. Finley, Jr.; and H. P. Middleton. Representative McArthur, of Oregon, addressed the members at a recent meeting.

Miss Warner Pleads For Kind Treatment of Dumb Animals

Says Tenderness and Thoughtful Consideration for Helpless Dumb Animals Surest Sign of Real Culture—Instances of Animals Suffering Intensely Through Emotions.

By ELEANOR WARNER.

One of the surest signs of a fine, sympathetic nature and real culture is a tenderness and thoughtful consideration of one's inferiors and dependents—and especially for helpless, dumb animals. In our super-abundant egotism, we have presumed to act as if the earth, and the fullness thereof, were created solely for our exclusive use and enjoyment, and have thoughtlessly misused our vaunted superiority in dealing with these humble creatures.

We have progressed considerably, it is true, in the past few years, under the leadership and inspiration of that noble man, Henry Bergh, but we are yet far from being quite humane in this respect. What terrible, inhuman cruelty, for instance, to confine birds and animals in iron cages and small enclosures year after year—a punishment which we impose on human beings for having committed hideous crimes—depriving these wild creatures of their liberty merely to gratify the idle curiosity of thoughtless crowds, which show a much stronger desire to be around than for any knowledge of zoology as the mob around the monkey cage proves!

It would be far more merciful to kill them outright than to torture them by long confinement in cramped and unnatural surroundings. No wonder some animals become vicious after such brutal treatment. Like Gunda, the elephant in the New York Zoo, with two feet tethered to the floor of his cage, denounced as "wicked" and later killed because he endangered the life of his keeper.

If they would all become "dangerous" it might wake us up to the fact that the heartless amusement which we give to ourselves by watching the sufferings of dumb animals is a very real danger to the human race. The expense, the cruelty of capture and the pitiless confinement of any of God's creatures.

When we become civilized enough to realize that these poor dumb things are extremely sensitive and that they suffer acutely, the same as human beings, we shall make some drastic reforms in this direction.

Take the horse, for example. Not the well-groomed carriage horse, with his proud and splendid bearing, showing so plainly the effects of good care and kind treatment, but the average city work horse. How patient, faithful and willing he is! Over snow, faithful paving, he plods, his legs strained and aching, often in pain, cold and miserable, his honest eyes filled with a sad resignation and despair, so often kicked and cursed, so seldom praised or rewarded—no pay, no pleasure, nothing but daily drudgery, and at the end of a long, hard day a dark, cold, stuffy stall, his food thrown at him like fust is fed to an engine—to get more work out of him!

And in summer what misery he endures under the blazing sun, his fierce heat radiating from the scorching pavement, tortured by thirst, by chafing, by blindness, which compel him to look in one direction and thus cause eye strain, frequently by collar and harness sores and tormented by swarms of flies!

List of "50,000 Club" Entrants

Will Be Announced on Tuesday

Questions and Answers Review Principal Points Regarding

Which Hundreds of Queries Have Been Made—It is Better to Join at Once and Secure Early Advantage.

The first list containing the names of the members entered in the "50,000 Club" will be published in Tuesday's Washington Herald. If your name is not registered, you had better send it in today.

There are three brand new automobiles, two of the best pianos made, and a Columbia gramophone, to be given away to the members of the "50,000 Club" who enter the campaign for votes at any time. It is better to join early.

Review Principal Points.

In the following question-and-answer review will be found the principal points regarding the race, which have been the topic of hundreds of queries addressed to the "50,000 Club" manager at The Washington Herald office:

Q.—Will a club member be compelled to get votes only in the district in which he is entered?

A.—No. A club member can secure votes anywhere. The districts have been named only to divide the prizes more equally.

Q.—Who may enter the "50,000 Club" as a member?

A.—Any man or woman, young or old.

Q.—What must be done to become a member?

A.—Fill out the entry blank (which starts you off with 1,000 votes), and bring or send it to the manager of the "50,000 Club."

Q.—Will votes be allowed on any except cash subscriptions?

A.—No. The cash must accompany each subscription order when it is turned in to the manager of the "50,000 Club."

Necessary Supplies Furnished.

Q.—Is a new member furnished with any forms with which to handle subscription cash?

A.—Yes. receipt books and all other necessary supplies are furnished each club member upon his or her entrance into the club.

Q.—From whom can subscriptions be secured?

A.—Subscriptions can be secured from anybody, whether they now read The Washington Herald or not.

Q.—How will subscriptions be cared for when turned in to the manager of the club?

A.—Subscriptions for The Herald will immediately be turned over to the circulation department, where orders for delivery will be instantly given away on way. Wherever possible, the delivery of the paper will be made by The Herald's regular agents or carriers. All other subscriptions will be served by express.

Q.—What does the prize list consist of?

A.—The prizes consist of three automobiles, two pianos, and a gramophone (grand prize), and forty-four other valuable prizes—fifty in all.

All Members Get Awards.

Q.—Is it true that all members of the club are to receive awards?

A.—Yes. It is true of all active members. The Herald's "50,000 Club" was specially designed to insure every one who joins and remains active until the close of the campaign, and who is not successful in winning any of the fifty prizes offered, a cash commission of 10 per cent on all new subscriptions turned in.

Q.—How is information secured regarding the "50,000 Club?"

A.—By writing, telephoning, or making a personal call on the manager of the "50,000 Club" at the office of The Washington Herald.

Q.—What are the telephone numbers?

A.—Main, 3202.

Q.—When does the campaign close?

A.—March 24, 1916.

ROTC CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

View Paintings of the Washington of the Future Loaned by Col.

W. W. Harris.

The annual meeting and banquet of the Rotary Club of Washington was held in the small ballroom of the New Willard Friday night. A number of visitors from out-of-town clubs augmented the attendance.

These visitors included C. F. Laughlin, Cleveland; H. S. Kiesel, Springfield, Ohio; Dennis P. Cooke, Columbus; F. S. Hiett, Toledo; F. S. Oppenheimer, New York; and J. W. Brownlee, Knoxville.

Vice President William E. Shannon, in an extemporaneous speech, explained the series of paintings on view of the Washington of the future. The pictures were loaned by Col. W. W. Harris, engineer officer in charge of public buildings and grounds. Mr. Shannon also presented each club member and visitor with a deluxe copy of "Our Nation's City," by William H. Taft and James Bryce.

The new constitution changed the time of the annual meeting from January to the fourth Friday of May, and the present officers were continued until that time. It was announced that the members will respect the plant of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company February 4, and be entertained at luncheon there by the general manager, Rotarian D. S. Porter.

London's exports to the United States for November were more than $4,741,000, as against less than $3,000,000 for October.

MRS. PINCHOT TO MAKE ADDRESS

Congressional Union Holds Meeting This Afternoon in Cameron House.

OPEN HEADQUARTERS

Meeting Today Constitutes Official "Opening" of Union's New Home, Lafayette Square.

Mrs. Amos Pinchot will be one of the chief speakers at the third anniversary meeting of the Congressional Union, which will be held in Cameron House this afternoon.

Mrs. Pinchot is an active supporter of the work of the Congressional Union in New York. She attended the sessions of its convention in Washington in December and while here visited a great many of the New York congressmen in the interest of the Susan B. Anthony amendment, removing from the ballot the qualification of sex.

Mrs. Pinchot was a member of the delegation of women who waited upon President Wilson in New York last Thursday and will undoubtedly have an interesting story to tell of the details of the interview.

Others speakers at the meeting will be Mrs. Lawrence Lewis, Miss Anne Martin, of Nevada, chairman of the legislative committee of the Congressional Union; Miss Elsie Hill, daughter of Representative E. J. Hill, of Connecticut, and Miss Frances Jolliffe, one of the envoys from the Woman Voters Convention who, with Mrs. Sara Bard Field, presented to President Wilson the resolution passed by the convention last September in favor of national woman suffrage. Mrs. William Kent, of California, will preside.

This meeting constitutes the official "opening" of the new headquarters of the Congressional Union at the old Cameron House in Lafayette Square. Delegates of the house are in the hands of Mrs. Nina E. Allender, art editor of The Sun-fragist, and Mrs. Caro G. Moore.

Refreshments will be served by Miss Edith Goode, what will be assisted by Miss Catherine Pace, Miss Mary Howry, Miss Candace Howard, Miss Annie Hopkins, Miss Helen Burch, Miss Emily Perry, Miss Marion McKinnis, Miss Peggy Sefton, Miss Margaret Howard, Miss Ruth Haggood, Miss Joy Young, Miss Edith Murray, Miss Grace Needham, Miss Louise Silvers, Miss Mary LaFollette, Miss Norma Johnson, Miss Ruth Valk, Miss Marie Barrett and Miss Dorothy Owens.

In the receiving line will be Mrs. Joseph McKenna, Mrs. Albert E. Cummings, Henry F. Ashurst, Mrs. Robert LaFollette, Mrs. Frank W. Mondell, Mrs. Julian Kahn, Mrs. Luther Wright-Mott, Mrs. Ernest W. Roberts, Mrs. William Kent, Mrs. Nina E. Allender, Mrs. John J. White, Mrs. Benton MacKay, Mrs. Charles Boughton Wood, Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, Mrs. George Rubie, Mrs. William S. Moore, Mrs. S. B. Young, Mrs. Richard Wainwright, Miss Mary Morgan, Miss Maud Younger and Mrs. George Thatcher Guernsey.

Members of the committee on arrangements for the meeting are Mrs. Robert Baker, Mrs. George Odell, Mrs. Nevil Monroe Hopkins, Mrs. W. Thompson Burch and Mrs. Randolph Keith Forrest.

MICHIGAN MEN HOLD ANNIVERSARY DINNER

Association Celebrates Its Own and State Anniversary with Men of National Prominence as Guests.

On Wednesday evening the men comprising the Michigan State Association in Washington gave their fifty-third anniversary dinner at Rauscher's, in celebration of the twenty-ninth anniversary of the admission of the State into the Union.

At 7:30 o'clock about one hundred men sat down to a splendid ten-course dinner, after which an excellent program was presented, with Hon. Patrick H. Kelly, president of the association, presiding.

The special feature of the evening was the singing of Miss Helen Rogers Smith, late of Lansing, Mich., who, in addition to her two program numbers, sang several other songs by special request. Miss Smith is a vocalist of rare talent and expression, and added to this is a charming personality that quite captivated her appreciative audience.

Among the guests of honor were Admiral Charles E. Clark, Surgeon General Brimley, Hon. Charles A. Towne, former United States Senator; Hon. G. J. Dickema, former member of Congress (all of whom are Michigan men); Hon. John Burke, United States Treasurer; Hon. E. A. Hayes, Justice R. M. Montgomery, Justice George Sutherland, and nearly the entire Michigan delegation in Congress; also eight members of Congress from other States, as the invited guests of the members from Michigan.

Switzerland now owns the St. Gothard tunnel and railway.

"77"

Humphreys' Seventy-seven

For Colds, Influenza,

Grip

The cumulative effect of advertising a good thing in the Sunday and Daily Papers for many years, created such large sales for "Seventy-seven" during the Grip epidemic that we could not meet the demands and were obliged to stop advertising for a time to catch up with the orders.

To get the best results, take "Seventy-seven" at the first feeling of the Grip or a Cold.

If you wait until you begin to cough and sneeze, have sore throat and influenza, it may take longer.
